PETITIONING THE COURT

TO MODIFY THE CONDITIONS OF SUPERVISION AS FOLLOWS:

Jesus Gonzalez, as a special condition of supervision, shall reside at and participate in a residential reentry center program, under the community corrections component, as approved by the Probation Officer, for a period not to exceed 180 days, pursuant to 18 USC 3563(b)(11) and 18 USC 3583(d).

CAUSE

On January 8, 2015, Mr. Gonzalez was arrested by Los Angeles County Police department based on a bench warrant issued in June 2014. On January 26, 2015, Mr. Gonzalez appeared in the Los Angeles Superior Court, Case No. 4SR02029 and pled nolo contendere to a misdemeanor violation of 23110(a) of the California Vehicle Code, Throwing a Substance at a Vehicle. According to the police report dated December 24, 2013, Mr. Gonzalez threw a beer can at his ex-girlfriend's vehicle as he pursued her in his vehicle on the highway.

In that matter, Mr. Gonzalez was placed on summary probation for three years and ordered to serve 30 days in county jail. He was further ordered to participate in a 52-week domestic violence treatment program and to stay away from his ex-girlfriend. Mr. Gonzalez was released from custody on January 27, 2015.

It is noted that Mr. Gonzalez is supervised in the Central District of California, and by way of intervention, the probation officer and Mr. Gonzalez met and agreed the offender would participate in a Residential Reentry Center program for a period of 180 days as evidenced by the offender's signature on the attached probation form 49. This RRC placement will assist Mr. Gonzalez in providing him the structure needed to enroll and begin participating in his 52-week domestic violence counseling program which was ordered in his county case. It is believed this intervention strategy holds Mr. Gonzalez accountable while providing community protection. The offender's supervision expires in September 2015.

Respectfully submitted,
